To Whom It May Concern,

I am pleased to write this letter of recommendation for Aaron Cole, whom I had the pleasure of teaching in both 9th grade and 10th grade English classes. Throughout these two years, Aaron has consistently demonstrated qualities of self-motivation and hard work.

Aaron is a self-motivated student who takes initiative in his learning. While his grades were not always strong, Aaron showed perseverance and determination to pass. He demonstrated a commendable ability to manage and complete late work by taking responsibility for his assignments and worked collaboratively with me to ensure that he stayed on track. Perhaps it would have been better if the work was never late, nevertheless he made the effort to get it turned in before the end of the semester.

One of Aaron's standout qualities is his friendly and effective communication skills. He was always proactive in advocating for himself, whether it was seeking clarification on assignments, requesting feedback, or discussing ways to improve his performance. Aaron's ability to carry a conversation in a friendly and effective way is what I will remember about him.

In addition to his academic efforts, Aaron balanced multiple responsibilities outside of school. He worked several jobs, showcasing his ability to manage his time and prioritize effectively. Furthermore, Aaron was an active member of the robotics club, where he applied his problem-solving skills and teamwork abilities. He was also a dedicated member of the bowling team, demonstrating his commitment to personal growth and his ability to work well in team environments.

In summary, Aaron Cole is a hardworking and motivated student who possesses strong communication skills and a determined attitude. Although he has room to grow in the areas of productivity and meeting deadlines, he was a kind and engaging student to teach.

Sincerely,

Brandon Lee
